Another Is Slain in Guatemala

By THEODORE A. EDIGER
Associated Press Writer
GUATEMALA (AP) — Defying a sweeping police roundup to check terrorism in Guatemala, gunmen killed a wealthy landowner Wednesday, one day after the slaying of two U.S.
military officers.

Alfonso Alejos de la Cerda, 77, was machine-gunned in a suburb of the capital, and his driver was wounded. He was an employee of Roberto Alejos, a presidential candidate in 1962, and of Carlos Alejos, a former ambassador to Washington.

Havana Radio, reporting the assassination, said another nephew "gave his farm for the training of Cuban counter-revolutionaries and mercenaries for the Bay of Pigs invasion in 1961."

Alejos was shot a day after assassins in a speeding car machine-gunned U.S. Army Col.
John D. Webber Jr., 47, Houston, Tex., head of the U.S. military advisory group in Guate-mal, and Lt. Cmdr. Ernest A.
Munro, 40, Rockland, Maine, head of the U.S. naval section.

The Rebel Armed Forces, a Castroite group known as FAR,
said it assassinated the Americans in retaliation for leftist guerrillas killed by Guatemalan army groups trained by the U.S.
military mission.

Police made a large number of arrests as they searched for the assassins of the two U.S. officers and other victims of the terrorists.

Military police combed through homes and offices and set up roadblocks. Entire blocks were sealed off by police armed with machine guns. Cars were stopped at checkpoints and searched for arms.

Marine Sgt. Harry L. Greene, 41, of Omaha, Neb., was wounded with two U.S. officers and was reported in fair condition.
Army Sgt. Maj. John R. Forster, 42, of Seattle, Wash., was struck in the arm by shattered glass and was released Tuesday after treatment.

The government put more guards on the U.S. Embassy and other American installations and sent regrets to Washington.

Webber and Munro were the first U.S. victims of a wave of rightist and leftist terrorism that has taken more than 1,000 lives in the last year and a half.

he has had to endure because of the war and the fact that a war still going on at election time may affect the outcome. Is that the United States will continue the war.

This is the same position he took in his State of the Union message last year.

Last year he also asked Congress to impose a six per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes. Congress ignored him in 1967.
Wednesday night he asked for the surtax again, but now he wants a 10 per cent hike.

He had hardly anything new to add to what he said last year about trying to prevent crime in the streets and asked Congress this year to approve the crime control proposal he made in 1967.

And so it went.
In delivering his televised message at the Capitol before a joint session of House and Senate he used exactly the same technique he adopted in 1967: A minimum of gestures and facial expressions.

This, no doubt, is the technique he will use in the campaign. He has been increasingly careful for at least a year about his public image. The year 1967 was a turning point for him.

In last year's message his method changed from previous years in sentence structure. At that time he eliminated the over-use of short sentences. And last year's, like this year's, had no trimmings.

Both were matter-of-fact.

The Johnson the nation listened to and watched Wednesday night—and in 1967—is not necessarily the Johnson it would have seen if there had been no war in Vietnam.

If there had been no war,
Wednesday night's message might have been full of sweeping new proposals. But the criticism heaped on him about the war has probably made him want to stay out of controversy in general as he tries to sweat out the war, while remaining unyielding to his critics.

nated Tuesday, and one terrorist was killed.

In Washington, State Department press officer Robert J.
McCluskey said about 5,000 U.S. citizens live in Guatemala and several hundred U.S. tourists are usually in the country.

"All possible precautions are being taken by our own people," he said.

General, 8 Officers Die in Crash

By ALDEN BESTE
Associated Press Writer
MINOT, N.D. (AP) — A two-star general and eight other Air Force officers were among 12 persons killed Wednesday when a huge Air Force tanker plane crashed on takeoff from fog-shrouded Minot Air Force Base.
There was one survivor.

An Air Force investigating team sought the cause of the crash.

The seven crewmen and six passengers were from March Air Force Base near Riverside, Calif.

Maj. Gen. Charles M. Eisenhart, 53, vice commander of the 15th Air Force, died when the plane burst into flames upon impact around 9 a.m. An explosion followed, spewing bodies and parts of the plane more than 1,000 feet in several directions.

The death list also included three colonels, three lieutenant colonels, a major, a captain and three enlisted men.

The survivor was T. Sgt. William G. Wright, 34, the plane's steward.

Wright was taken to John Moses Hospital in Minot, 14 miles south of the Strategic Air Command base in north central North Dakota. He suffered burns over 70 to 80 per cent of his body and was reported in critical condition.

The tanker, a four-engine jet usually used to refuel other planes in flight, was on a routine staff visit to Minot and was taking off from Glasgow, Mont., Air Force Base. The craft had been outfitted for passenger service and was not carrying extra fuel, officials said.

The base said the plane apparently was airborne just before the crash. The wreckage was about 20 yards to the right of and about three-quarters of the way down the 15,000-foot long runway.

The base information officer said, "To my knowledge there were no eyewitnesses. Visibility was too low."

A civilian employee at the base, who asked that his name not be used, said, "It was so foggy I couldn't see." He said visibility was no more than 300 feet.

An official at the Minot base said there was no way to know yet what caused the accident.

Congress Unfriendly on High Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union remarks on peace prospects drew a frigid response from some fellow Democrats and other initial congressional reaction pointed to continued hostility toward increases in taxes and spending.

Johnson told Congress
Wednesday night that if a basis for peace talks can be established with North Vietnam his hope would be for a complete cease-fire as the first order of business.

His brief remarks on the prospects for peace drew applause
— but not from Democratic Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York and J. William Fulbright of Arkansas. They are two leading critics of Johnson's war policy.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, seeking the Democratic presidential nomination on a platform of opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policies, said: "We still are told the nation can wage and win two wars
— the one in Vietnam and the war on poverty. We are waging one, but not winning either."

The President's renewed appeal for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge, coupled with his announcement that spending would be increased by some $10.4 billion, drew criticism or opposition from such prominent Democrats as Sen. William Proxmire, chairman of the joint Economic Committee and Sen.
Russell B. Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.
Republicans joined in the attack.

But other Democrats came to the President's support, including Speaker John W. Mc-Cormack and House Democratic Leader Carl Albert.

The key congressman on the tax issue, Chairman Wilbur D.
Mills, of the House Ways and Means Committee, declined comment, saying he wanted to see Johnson's spending figures first. The budget is due for presentation to Congress by Jan. 29.

Mills has been maintaining that unless there is a significant spending cut he would not go along with a tax hike.

Long, Mills' counterpart in the Senate, said he's still opposed to a surtax.

Proxmire said he did "welcome the President's decision to call for the removal of the gold cover requirement that will free more than $10 billion in gold to meet our international obligations." Chairman Wright Pat-man of the House Banking Committee also endorsed this proposal.

Chairman George H. Mahon of the House Appropriations Committee, a Democrat, generally endorsed Johnson's speech.
But he added that "in all but the imperative necessities, we ought to close our eyes to each and every increase requested over the present level."

The senior Republican on Mahon's committee, Rep. Frank T.
Bow of Ohio, said Johnson's budget figures are too high. He said he would begin a campaign at once to cut spending by $8 billion. Bow led a successful drive last year to cut spending by about $4.1 billion.

House Republican Leader
Gerald R. Ford also indicated there will be a strong GOP push for spending cuts rather than support for a tax boost.

doubt, by our frau's attendance at the January

Cuba Claims Capture of U.S. Flyer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — An American citizen identified as an ex-paratrooper who tried to sneak into Cuba in a private plane with a gun and cameras has been shot down, the Cuban radio said today.

The broadcast identified the downed pilot as Everett Jackson, 27, of Los Angeles.

The radio said the plane was shot down over the Bay of Cadiz at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 29, by anti-aircraft guns as it "infiltrated" Cuban territory.

Jackson had dropped a parachute package containing a carbine rifle, 200 bullets, maps, cameras with telephoto lenses and a set of binoculars, the broadcast said.

The Coast Guard in Miami said it had no report of a missing plane matching the description given of Jackson's plane.
The Federal Aviation Administration in Miami said its reports on missing aircraft were not available.

The plane was described in the broadcast, monitored in Miami, as a Taylorcraft with identification No. L96467.
The broadcast said the pilot was shot down north of the Central Cuba city of De Ranchos Veloz and the plane fell on an island called "Falcon's Key."

"The pilot was captured by forces of the interior minister," the broadcast said.

The newscast said Jackson identified himself as a former member of the 82nd and 101st Airborne units, who had served in Germany with the 11th Division.

He said he left Homestead Airport about 50 miles south of Miami at 4 p.m. Dec. 29 "and he had come to Cuba with the purpose of infiltrating into the national territory," the broadcast said.

Cadiz Bay is located about 125 miles due east of Havana and 60 miles northwest of the Las Villas provincial capital, Santa Clara.

LBJ Fails to Silence His Critics

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's call for higher taxes along with increased spending has drawn early fire from key congressional leaders.
And he apparently has made no inroads into opposition to his Vietnam policies.

Johnson's statement that rejection of his 10 per cent income tax could cripple U.S. prosperity drew no applause from the assembled senators and representatives.

And in a news conference 30 minutes after the speech, House Republican Leader Gerald R.
Ford said Johnson failed to make a case for the tax boost.
Chairman William Proxmire,
D-Wis., of the Senate-House
Economic Committee called it
"a serious economic mistake"
for the President to seek a tax boost without slashing such programs as public works and space.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., said of the speech:
"We still are told the nation can wage and win two wars—
the one in Vietnam and the war on poverty. We are waging one, but not winning other."

Johnson's brief remarks on Vietnam peace prospects—in which he reiterated U.S. demands for a North Vietnamese pledge of a curb on military action if U.S. bombing is to be halted—met with stony silence on the part of two of his severest war policy critics, Sens.
J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

As anticipated, Republicans found Johnson's message politically oriented.

'Quake Toll in Sicily Nears 400

PALERMO, Sicily (AP) — The known death toll in western Sicily's earthquakes neared 400 today, but U.S. Embassy men from Rome said they have found no evidence of any Americans killed or injured.

The quakes Monday wrecked a dozen towns and villages, injured more than 1,500 persons, and hundreds are still missing.

The hilly inland region is seldom visited by tourists, but the embassy in Rome sent a special staff to help the Palermo consulate handle the hundreds of queries from the United States about Americans or relatives possibly in the area.

Rescue teams, jittery from the shock of 32 tremors which followed the devastating quakes, continued poking under rubble and found two survivors Wednesday, still breathing after nearly 60 hours of confinement.

In Salaparuta, eight bodies were dug out of debris but a woman in her 60s had survived by huddling under a staircase as her two-story building disintegrated. She was taken to a field hospital in serious condition.

Dr. Francesco Scanga, Italy's chief of public hygiene, led special teams spraying the debris to avert epidemics.

Police set up patrols against looters. Four youths were arrested in Palermo Wednesday night while trying to break into a bakery.

The island's major problem remained getting food, medicine, tents and blankets to an estimated 40,000 refugees preparing to spend a fourth night in the open. They were spread in small encampments throughout the western tip of the island, with only about 3,000 tents for shelter.

"We need bread. Money is useless to us because all the shops are closed or in ruins," one refugee complained. Later, 32 tons of bread and 100 tons of pasta were flown to the island from successful. Reports from Hanoi so far through diplomatic channels are said not to be encouraging.

Johnson himself said in his message the enemy continues to hope that "America's will to persevere can be broken. He is wrong. America will persevere."

The dominant belief of U.S. officials is that Hanoi is trying to build up new worldwide prestige on Johnson to call off the bombing without any reciprocal de-escalation of North Vietnam's part.

Hanoi Must Act First If Bombs End

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson seeks to work out with North Vietnam a "basis for peace talks" which could lead to discussion of a complete ceasefire in the Vietnamese war as the first order of business.

The President proposed top priority for the cease-fire goal in his State of the Union message to Congress Wednesday night. But at the same time he made it emphatically clear his conditions for halting the bombing of North Vietnam in order to open talks must be met.

By contrast, North Vietnam still insists on an unconditional end to the bombing.

"There is no mystery about the questions which must be answered before the bombing is stopped," Johnson said. He did not specify the questions which in fact are already being put to Hanoi through diplomatic channels. But he is known to be seeking assurances that the talks would be prompt and probably productive and that North Vietnam would not try to pour reinforcements into the South after the bombing was halted—points he made in his address.

Johnson's formula for the bomb halt-peace talk deal was first put forth in a speech he made at San Antonio, Tex., last September. In paraphrasing it Wednesday night he appeared to ease his requirements in one respect and harden them in another.

At San Antonio Johnson said he assumed North Vietnam would not take advantage of the end of bombing to improve the Communist military position. Wednesday night he declared: "The other side must not take advantage of our restraint as they have in the past. This nation simply cannot accept anything less without jeopardizing the lives of our men and our allies."

Officials interpreted that assertion as a clear warning that if the North Vietnamese did start rushing reinforcements South after a halt Johnson would resume the bombing.

On these conditions for moving to get talks started, Johnson told the Congress "the bombing would stop if talks would take place promptly and with reasonable hopes they would be productive." Officials said there was no way to guarantee in advance that any talks would be productive so the words "reasonable hopes" were inserted to make this requirement easier to fulfill.

"If a basis for peace talks can be established on the San Antonio foundations," Johnson declared, "and it is my hope and my prayer that they can be—we would consult with our allies and with the other side to see if a complete cessation of hostilities—a really true cease-fire—could be made the first order of business."

"I will report at the earliest possible moment the results of these explorations."

Administration officials say privately they hold little hope the present efforts to come to terms with North Vietnam will be suc-

Catlett Is Pressured for Meeting

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Leon B. Catlett of Little Rock, chairman of the state Democratic party, said Wednesday he would call a meeting of the state Democratic Committee "in due course."

Several state legislators have pressed Catlett to call such a meeting, and Young Democratic Clubs at the University of Arkansas and Henderson State College reiterated last week that they felt such a meeting was urgently needed.

The Henderson YDC group demanded that Catlett either call a meeting of the state Democratic Committee or resign. Catlett said he would not resign.

Forum: House That Jack Built

By DICK KLEINER
NEA West Coast Correspondent

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — (NEA)—The first time they made ice on the floor of the Forum, the world's newest major arena, it was tested by a silver-haired, ruddy-faced manded also that Catlett explain who prepares the scripts for the program, "Info '68" and who pays the salary of its moderator, Mrs. Elizabeth Westmoreland.

Catlett said he prepared most of the scripts for the TV program, and that Mrs. Westmoreland's salary was paid by himself and other Democrats who support the program.

The program has been criticized by old and young Democrats alike because of numerous blunders, but Catlett said it was "hurting the Republicans pretty badly."

"It is certainly bringing to an interested audience the many accomplishments of dedicated Democrats and the shortcomings of the present administration," Catlett said. "I feel it is accomplishing its purpose."

A tongue-in-cheek resolution adopted by the state Republican Committee Saturday praised "Info '68" for advancing the cause of Republicanism, but Catlett described the resolution as an indication the program was hurting the GOP.

man with twinkling blue eyes. For an hour, he skated around the oval rink until he was satisfied it was a good surface.

The man was Jack Kent Cooke, and around Los Angeles they call the Forum "the house that Jack built." And he practically did. The huge, handsome circular building is a tribute to his perseverance and dynamism.

Throughout the Forum are touches of his individualism, touches which make the Forum unique.

To begin with, Cooke objects to that word "arena." He prefers to call the Forum a theater. And the use of carpeting, comfortable seats, wide aisles and such touches attest to that philosophy.

Cooke, through his California Sports, Inc., owns the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association, the Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League and the Los Angeles Wolves, franchised to operate next season in the United Soccer Association. The Lakers and Kings will use the Forum.

Luck was with Cooke all the way. When he first said he was going to build it and have it open in time for this hockey season, the scoffing could be heard from San Diego to Seattle. But he did it, partly because he was able to build without any major delays.

When negotiating for other attractions to play the Forum, he found that contracts for such shows as Holiday on Ice and the Ringling Bros. circus were all expiring this year. He rushed in with his pen and his smile and both will use the Forum beginning in '68.

There will be others—a home show, a horse show, pop concerts—and between them all Cooke figures the Forum will have something going on perhaps 200 days in this, its first year.

He is proud of what he has done, but he doesn't feel the work is behind him. He says he feels more like a mother who has just had a baby: "Now I have to see that it grows up right."

The baby is a beauty. There are things like a color keying system, to help the spectators find their way to their seats easily—the tickets, parking lot stripes and seats are all in the same colors.

Behind the scenes, the Forum offers some unusual items. There is a huge, underground office setup for all of Cooke's ventures—as much office space as in an average three-story building.

The basketball and hockey players who come to the Forum may never want to leave. They will find carpeted dressing rooms, eight-foot high doors and elevated shower heads for the basketball players, individual safes with combination locks at every dressing stall, special humidity-controlled rooms for hanging up the hockey players' damp uniforms to prevent mildew, a luxurious postgame interview room where the stars can meet the press in plush surroundings, separate dining facilities.

The Forum boasts a private club and a public restaurant, plus concession stands at key locations. These, too, reflect Cooke's personality. He has a fetish about people handling both food and money, so at the concession stands the customer picks up food from one person and pays some body else.

Cooke, a multimillionaire who made it in Canadian radio and television, was retired for two years. He golfed and gardened, but grew restless. Three years ago, he retired and came to Los Angeles, and the Forum is the culmination of his second career.

He also owns 25 per cent of the Washington Redskins, but doesn't talk much about that hereabouts; this is Ram country. The only thing he still like to do is get himself a piece of a (or whole) baseball team. That may yet happen.

Lombardi and Atlanta

Price Wasn't Right

MIAMI, Fla.—(NEA)—Rankin M. Smith, whose team had the worst record in professional football last year, appreciates more than anybody what Vince Lombardi has done for the Green Bay Packers.

At one time, Rankin thought Lombardi might do the same thing for him. The subject is particularly pertinent now because of the speculation about Lombardi's future, whether he'll quit coaching, whether he'll choose to move on to another challenge.

A couple of years ago, when Rankin found out he'd be allowed the privilege of spending $7.5 million to own a football team in Atlanta, Ga., his first question was: "Who am I going to get to coach it?"

Smith was immediately advised that Vince Lombardi might be interested, with the proper inducements, mainly money. "In fact," says the owner of the Atlanta Falcons, "Lombardi came to me."

The Packer coach was already then in the throes of success at Green Bay, but this success has limited rewards if a man is interested in equity for the future. As the resident genius of the community-owned football team, Vince can collect a large salary for being coach and general manager (and operate with the autocracy of Little Caesar), but he can never own a piece of the action. Not one share of stock, under present rules.

The tax structure on personal income being what it is, Lombardi, who used to make $3,500 a year as a high school coach and was an obscure assistant until the age of 46, couldn't get rich in his current situation. It makes him vulnerable to rumors of change, and not because he's already won everything at Green Bay. When Paul Brown was equally successful at Cleveland a decade ago, there were no reports he'd leave. Paul owned a part of the Browns, just as he is a major stockholder of the new Cincinnati franchise in the American Football League.

When Lombardi leaves Green Bay, it'll be for a similar kind of deal. Despite his recent protestations that a man can't physically do justice to the combined jobs of general manager and coach because of the complex big business problems that now surround pro football, it's highly unlikely Vince would give up coaching just to remain in Green Bay as the front office boss.

A few years ago, Vince actually shook hands on a deal to coach the New York entry in the American Football League, but the group that wanted him didn't get the franchise. With his demonstrable ability to produce results, Lombardi has enhanced his attraction to any owner.

It probably rankles Rankin privately that he couldn't make connections with Lombardi when he had the chance during the formation of the Falcons. They met twice to discuss the possibility.

"It is obvious," says Rankin, "that we didn't agree on financial terms."

And that's the ultimate irony in the quest for someone like Lombardi. Men like Smith don't go into professional football for the money.

"I had enough money already," says Rankin simply. "I'm a football nut. And I want a winner."

In lieu of Lombardi, Smith hired one of the Packer assistant coaches, Norb Hecker, to inaugurate the Falcons.

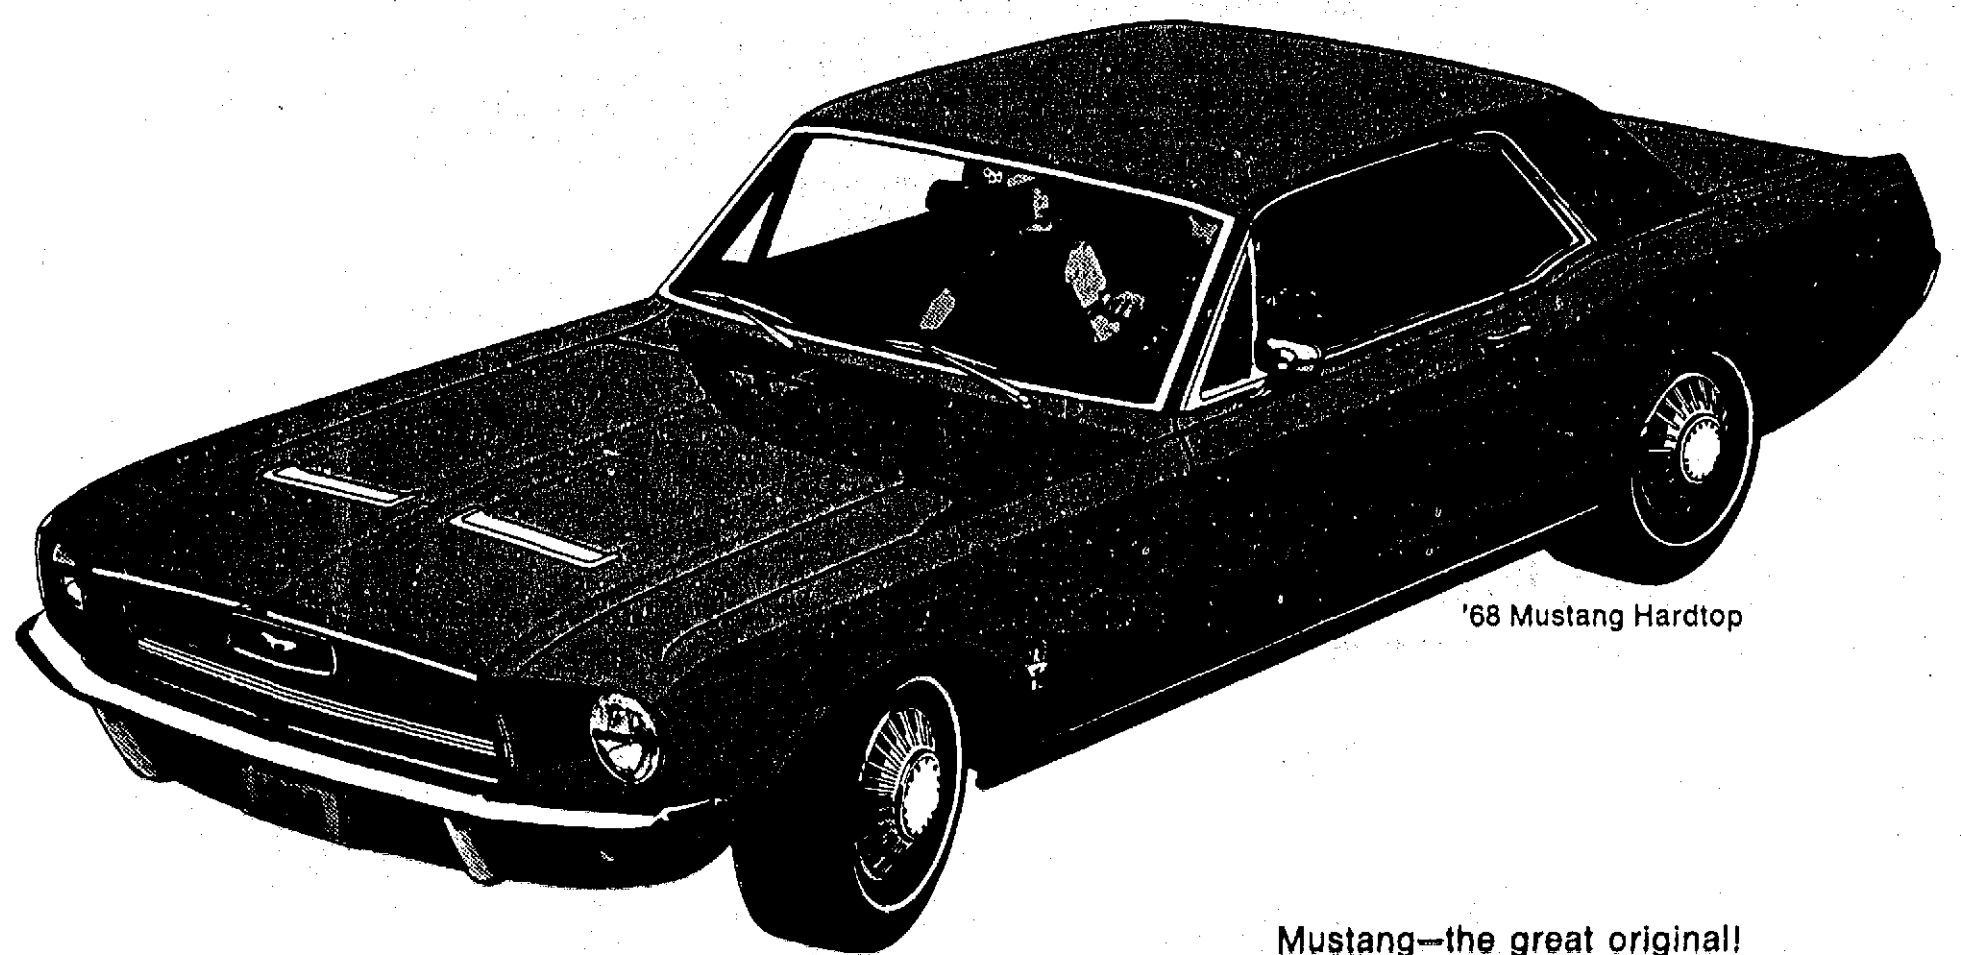

"The jury is still out on him," he admits. "We had a disappointing, frustrating season." The Atlanta Falcons tied one game and won one in 14, which is not the kind of progress he anticipated in their second year of operation.

Maybe Lombardi couldn't have worked miracles in the same situation—the Packers, after all, have been in business for 49 years—but Rankin Smith must wish he'd given it a try.

Lady Cats Advance at Gurdon

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star SportsWriter

Coasting along in their most orthodox way, the Hope Lady Cats advanced to the quarter-finals of the Gurdon Invitational Tournament by soundly thumping Chidester 64-25 yesterday afternoon at Gurdon.

The victory sent the Lady Cats into a showdown with Carthage this evening at 6:20 p.m. with a season mark of 15-4. But the respected local team remains the solid favorite in the tournament, and they looked it yesterday.

When the Lady Cats popped five of their first seven field goals, it appeared that they might get to 100. Indeed, Hope was pouring on the pressure, but the guards weren't quite settled down yet, and so the Lady Cats led it only 20-11 at the quarter's end.

However, what those guards had lacked at the start, they more than made up for later. The defense promptly held Chidester scoreless for the first three minutes of the second period, during which time the Hope forwards meshed 13 points to move ahead 33-11. Now the Lady Cats were scoring from underneath at will, though, and the increased pressure put the locals on top 44-14.

But the Hope defensive intimidation hit its peak with the reserves in during the third stanza. Those substitutes merely held Chidester to nothing, but that performance was really appreciated when the Lady Cats made only two of their first 20 shots from the field. Things settled down later, however, and a spurt at the period's end put Hope into a 58-14 lead.

Realizing that the win was already theirs, Hope slacked off in the last quarter with dreams of state tournament dancing in their heads, or in the fans' heads anyway. Nevertheless, their performances stood out at a look at the rebound chart, which showed 75 rebounds for the team in a complete domination of the backboards.

Kathryn Coleman slapped in 26 points to pace the Lady Cats, and Carol Anthony drove for 24. Mary Beth Millican, a sophomore forward who played her best game and will be a sparkplug of Lady Cats' teams to come, sacked eight points. After her it was Call Hartfield with five and Debbie Powell with one. Gloria Brown led Chidester with 17 points.

Boxing March 4 at New Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — The big boxing doubleheader that will initiate the sport in the new Madison Square Garden has been set for Monday, March 4.

Joe Frazier and Buster Mathis will meet for the New York version of the world heavyweight championship and Nino Benvenuti will again challenge Emile Griffith for the middleweight title.

His Inspiration

Chopin's famous "Funeral March" does not express grief over the death of an individual, but expresses the Polish composer's feeling over the loss of the independence of his native land.

SOLUNAR TABLES

By RICHARD ALDEN KNIGHT

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from Richard Alden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Date	Day	Minor	MAJOR	Minor	MAJOR
18	Thursday	8:15	1:15	9:25	1:40

Bobcats in Rematch at Magnolia

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star SportsWriter

After two weeks of a buildup of revenge, the Hope Bobcats have one more day before their rematch with the high-flying Magnolia Panthers tomorrow night at Magnolia.

Bobcat Coach Joe Austin has his boys in good condition for the battle with the Panthers, who are 2-0 in conference, including a 56-49 win over Hope back on the 5th. But it will take rebounding strength for the Bobcats to pull off a win, besides a good night in shooting.

In a conference where the home advantage is everything, the Bobcats still have had little problems with the Panthers in their home gym, only losing once in the last five years at Magnolia. If the Cats can contain the outside firing of Sid Moore and Todd Landes, it will be a big point in Hope's favor.

Magnolia, though, won the earlier meeting on rebound strength and Hope's floor errors, and will have to depend on both for their attack to work. The Panthers have two big jumpers in 6-3 Mac Dodson and 6-4 Larry Hill, and they were over the rim all night a fortnight ago. The Bobcats have worked to counteract this, but time will only tell what kind of progress has been made.

Then on Saturday night the Big Cats jump back in the bus for a ride to meet the El Dorado Washington's Hornets in El Dorado. Hope won first, 65-57, but the Hornets showed an outside shooting ability that will win them some ball games.

The Bobcats may have to depend some on a sudden-on-and-off full court press, which can keep the opponent second-guessing. This worked to a big degree in the last minutes against Magnolia, when the bobcats started the comeback that ran out of time.

Reserves Give Drake Victory

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Beware of the Bulldog—even reserve Bulldogs.

Drake fought off Iowa State for a 72-67 victory over Iowa State Wednesday night, and it was a couple of reserves who put the bite into the Bulldogs' attack when it was needed.

In avenging an earlier defeat and running their record to 12-2 the Bulldogs built up a 28-10 lead, but Iowa State fought back to tie at 52-52 with 8:21 left.

Then, with Drake leading by just one point, 58-57, two foul shots by Willie McCarter, the key Bulldog, and four points by reserve Ron Gwin sparked the Bulldogs to a 66-57 lead with 3:15 remaining.

Iowa State again rallied, closing to within 69-65 in the final minute, but baskets by McCarter and another reserve, Nelson Whitaker, clinched it for Drake.

McCarter scored 22 points for the Missouri Valley Conference Bulldogs. Bill Cain put in 18 for Iowa State, a Big Eight team.

Georgia scored its last six points on foul shots, including four by Dick McIntosh, and edged Mississippi State 81-77 in a Southeastern Conference game at Starkville, Miss.

Georgia, 3-3 in the league and 8-4 overall, was led by 6-foot-11 sophomore Bob Lienhart's 29 points. Tommy Payne collected 28 for State, 2-4 in the SEC and 6-8 overall.

Virginia Tech, which got off to a stumbling start this season, posted its sixth straight victory by overcoming a 10-point deficit and downing Eastern Kentucky 84-74 at Blacksburg, Va. Tech now is 9-6.

None of the teams in The Associated Press, major college Top Ten saw action, but the top two ranked small college clubs posted victories.

No. 1 Evansville drubbed Valparaiso 97-74 at home, and second-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan set a school record by thrashing Kentucky State 125-80, also at home.

Western Michigan edged Ohio University 83-79, West Virginia trounced Pittsburgh 90-64, St. John's of New York topped St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 80-72,

Missed 15th Shot and Lost Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Earl Monroe made 14 shots in a row, but the one that mattered was the one he missed.

When Monroe missed an easy layup with seconds left in the game Wednesday night the Baltimore Bullets missed a chance to tie the New York Knicks, who won 111-109.

Monroe's lapse negated a 26-point performance that led the Bullets, during which he made his first 14 free throws. Dick Barnett scored the winning basket for the Knicks, who were led by Cazzie Russell's 30 points.

In other National Basketball Association action, Boston downed St. Louis 114-102, Detroit topped San Francisco 117-109, San Diego beat Chicago 110-104 and Los Angeles took Philadelphia 125-116.

In the American Basketball Association, New Jersey beat Kentucky 103-96, New Orleans took Houston 110-103, Pittsburgh crushed Indiana 137-101 and Minnesota beat Anaheim 119-115.

Bailey Howell led a comeback attack for Boston late in the third period, John Havlicek led the Celtic scorers with 35 points while Len Wilkens led the Hawks with 32.

Dave Bing and Eddie Miles led a late surge for Detroit that broke a 107-107 tie. Bing finished with 31 points while Nate Thurmond had 32 for the Warriors.

San Diego saw an 18-point fourth-quarter lead drop to just three with a minute left, but a clutch shot by Jon McGlocklin that put the Rockets out of trouble. McGlocklin topped the scorers with 28 points, Keith Erickson led the Bulls with 20.

The Lakers broke a five-game losing streak as Jerry West, with 39 points, and Gail Goodrich, with 29, had their highs for the season.

Notre Dame nipped Butler 82-75, Western Kentucky snapped Dayton 75-74 in overtime, Maryland edged Navy 76-62 and Georgia Tech beat Furman 68-61 in other home-court victories.

In away triumphs, Villanova drubbed Pennsylvania 75-43, Cornell whipped Colgate 82-70, Massachusetts downed Holy Cross 71-65, St. Francis, Pa., clobbered Geneva 99-75 and St. Peter's N.J., defeated American University 89-81.

Unbeaten Long Island in Trouble

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Long Island University Blackbirds, only unbeaten team among those ranked in The Associated Press' small-college basketball poll, may have a tough time maintaining their perfect record Saturday night.

The Blackbirds, idle the past two weeks, next play Philadelphia Textile at the Palestra in Philadelphia. The Rams are unranked, but own a 10-1 mark and have lost only to second-ranked Kentucky Wesleyan, 76-65 on Dec. 13.

LIU, 11-0, held third place in the latest poll, accumulating 100 points on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc. A total of 15 sports writers and broadcasters on a national panel participated in the balloting which was based on games through last Saturday.

Evansville maintained a strong lead. The Purple Aces drew nine votes for first place and 141 points. Kentucky Wesleyan, with 106 points remained in the No. 2 spot. There were no changes in the fourth and fifth positions, occupied by Indiana State and Southwest Missouri State, respectively.

Southwestern Louisiana advanced two places to sixth while Trinity, Tex., dipped one position to seventh and Guilford climbed from ninth to eighth.

Pan American and Lincoln, Mo., ninth and 10th, respectively, are the new teams in the first 10. They replaced San Diego State and Winston-Salem.

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses and total points.

1. Evansville (9) 141
2. Kentucky Wesleyan 106
3. Long Island U. (2) 100
4. Indiana State 80
5. SW Missouri St. (1) 72
6. SW Louisiana (1) 57
7. Trinity, Tex. 44
8. Guilford (1) 31

3 Kansas Trackmen to Los Angeles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three University of Kansas track men, including freshman shotputter Karl Salz, will compete in the 9th annual Los Angeles Invitational meet Friday night.

Salz, from Crossett, Ark., put the shot 60 feet 1/2 inch in his initial competition last month at Monroe, La. He holds the national high school shotput record of 69-6.

Also competing will be Ben Olson, a senior from Bakersfield, Calif., and George Byers, a junior from Kansas City. Olson holds the school quarter-mile record of 46.7. Byers shares a record of 6.6 in the 60-yard low hurdles with teammate Lee Adams.

Pipers Win 137-101 Over Indiana

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chico Vaughn was hitting the long ball but Minnesota stayed in front.

Vaughn, scored 40 points, with five three-point baskets in his total, as the Pittsburgh Pipers crushed Indiana 137-101 in an American Basketball Association game Wednesday night.

But the Muskies remained one-half game ahead of Pittsburgh in the league's Eastern Division, beating Anaheim 119-115.

Vaughn had plenty of help in the scoring department as Connie Hawkins had 28 points, Charlie Williams had 23 and Art Heyman 22 for the Pipers.

In other ABA games, New Jersey beat Kentucky 103-96 and New Orleans topped Houston 110-103.

In the National Basketball Association, San Diego beat Chicago 110-104, Boston downed St. Louis 114-102, Detroit took San Francisco 117-109, New York edged Baltimore 111-109 and Los Angeles topped Philadelphia 125-116.

Mei Daniels scored 30 points for Minnesota, which overcame Anaheim despite a 40-point performance by Ben Warley.

Dan Anderson hit a three-point play to put New Jersey ahead late in the game. He led the American scorers with 31 points while Louie Dampier had 30 for Kentucky.

Doug Moe's 26 points topped the New Orleans as the Buccaneers stayed off a late Houston rally to win. Larry Lentz topped six Maverick scorers with double figures with 18 points.

Blevins and Bodcaw Lose at Saratoga

Four games were played last night in the Saratoga Invitational Basketball tournament.

In the senior girls bracket, Mineral Springs defeated Genoa Central 62-55; Fouke beat Blevins 57-43 and Kirby eliminated Bodcaw 45-27. In the senior boys bracket, Murfreesboro eased out Fouke by a score of 72 to 66.

Linda Green had 36 points for Mineral Springs and Shields 34 for Genoa Central. Teer led Fouke with 33 in the girls game while Turnage had 19, Hugg 13, and Steed 11 for Blevins. Parker scored 16 for Kirby with S. Miller and B. Miller getting 8 each and Moss 7 for Bodcaw. Hill pumped in 25 and Henderson 23 for the Murfreesboro boys while Wallis had 21 for Fouke.

Three games will be played tonight (Thursday) in the tournament; Saratoga and Mineral Springs senior boys tangle at 7:15; Kirby and Foreman senior girls play at 8:30 and its Blevins versus Bodcaw senior boys at 9:45 p.m.

In the quarterfinals Friday night: Mineral Springstakes on the Murfreesboro senior girls at 6 p.m.; Spring Hill and Murfreesboro senior boys play at 7:15; Fouke and Spring Hill senior girls vie at 8:30 p.m.

Semifinals will be played Saturday morning, beginning at 9 a.m. with both bracket finals Saturday night.

Davidson to State Hall of Fame

By HARRY KING

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gene "Sodie" Davidson played almost every down of every football game from the time he entered the University of Arkansas in 1915 until he finished up his eligibility in 1919.

"Davidson was by far the towering strength of the Arkansas crew. This man, now in his fourth year of gridiron achievements, more than once saved a Texas touchdown by his accurate tackling. He generated his team well under the circumstances and attracted attention by his broken field running and passing."

Davidson was called the "most finished player in the South" by a New Orleans newspaper.

Davidson was the All-Southwest quarterback in 1918, 1917 and 1919.

He will be inducted into the Arkansas Hall of Fame Thursday at Hot Springs, along with J. H. "Bo" Rowland, Howard "Red" Hickey and Elmer Smith.

Davidson was born seven miles from Waldron in 1896 and returned to Scott County in the early 1920s. His political success rivaled his athletic success—he never lost an election. He served six terms as county clerk and three terms as county judge.

Davidson acquired his nickname from a baseball cap he wore in his younger days. He would put aside the cap only to go to sleep, and it would always have a soda pop label on it.

3 Injury Prone Plays Forbidden

By BEN FUNK

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Three types of guys who knowingly—but legally—contribute to college football's high toll of injuries have been outlawed by the Football Rules Committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

These are the villains:
The safety who gives a fake fair catch signal, making himself immune from tackling, then throws a crushing block into an unsuspecting enemy coming down to cover the punt.

The flanker who goes wide, then cuts back into a neutral zone behind the line of scrimmage to clip a linebacker.

The lineman who goes into a sucker shift to draw the opposition offside.

These maneuvers, condoned by tricky coaches, have led to many injuries. Ivan B. Williamson, the committee chairman said Wednesday, and prohibiting them "will make football a safer game."

Under new rules, the safety who gives a fair catch signal will not be allowed to block while the ball is in play. If he does, his team draws a 15-yard penalty.

In the past, clipping has been legal in a zone three feet deep along the interior line. In the future, no player more than five yards outside this zone may enter it and throw a clip. The penalty will be the usual 15 yards.

To prevent sucker shifts, no lineman will be allowed to move before the snap of the ball once he has assumed a position with a hand on the ground. A shift will bring a five-yard penalty.

The committee, yielding to a clamor from coaches, also abolished the punt coverage rule it put into effect last season.

The one-year-old rule allowed only ends and backs of a punting team to go downfield with the snap of the ball.

But pressure from coaches to go back to the old rule, which permitted everybody to go with the snap of the ball, succeeded, although the new rule did not lead, as they expected, to a rash of injuries among ends and backs.

The tackle-eligible pass play was eliminated from the game. Williamson said some coaches had been getting illegal receivers downfield by putting numbers in the 80s, usually reserved for ends, on tacklers.

Now, centers, guards and tacklers must wear numbers between 50 and 79 and no player wearing those numbers will be eligible for a pass.

Under other new rules, quarterbacks may communicate with any number of coaches on the sideline during a charged time out, instead of just one coach; the timeout period is shortened from two to 1 1/2 minutes, and the clock will be stopped whenever a team makes a first down.

No safety will be allowed when a player intercepting a pass is carried into his end zone by his own momentum. If he does not choose to run out of the end zone, the ball will be put into play at the spot where the interception was made.

Dropping of Punt Rule

O.K.—Broyles

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday night he was "relieved" that the 1967 punt return rule had been rescinded.

Broyles was one of a number of NCAA Rules Committee members who voted for the rule last year and switched sides in the new vote Wednesday morning.

"I thought it was a bad rule," Broyles said.

The rule prohibited interior offensive linemen from leaving the line of scrimmage prior to the actual punt.

The Razorbacks came close the perfecting the punt return as an offensive weapon several times prior to the 1967 season. Arkansas led the Southwest Conference in that category for six consecutive years.

Broyles said the return to the old rule would send teams back to the practice field to work on punt returns. He said the 1967 rule ruined the Razorbacks' offensive plans more than once.

"We got so that we were scared to kick," Broyles said. "We ran on fourth down some and threw on third down in situations where we would have normally tried a draw or a screen."

He said, "If you stayed back to protect your kicker, then you gave the other team a chance to run it back all the way. If you spread out to try and cover the punt, then you took a chance on getting it blocked."

Cincinnati Draft Will Hit Colleges

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The college draft is the next shopping stop for the American Football League's new-born Cincinnati Bengals.

Paul Brown's Bengals were stocked with 40 veteran players in the AFL's expansion draft here but the head coach and owner of the new club made it clear that he expected more talent to come out of the college market.

"One thing I won't do," said Brown, "is to mortgage my club by trading draft picks for older players."

The Bengals, who choose second and behind only Minnesota in the Jan. 30 collegiate draft, are likely to go after a quarterback. There are three good ones available, UCLA's Gary Belan, Alabama's Kenny Stabler and Florida State's Kim Hammond.

Cincinnati already owns one signal caller—John Stofa. He was acquired in a pre-draft trade with Miami in which the Bengals surrendered two collegiate picks.

"It was a good trade for us," said Brown, "because we got an experienced quarterback—something you can't find everywhere."

will celebrate their 25th anniversary in February. On Feb. 13, 1943, the Marine Corps Women's Reserve program was announced and women swarmed to recruiting offices until a peak of nearly 19,000 women Marines was reached during World War II. Today, 2,700 women Marines are on active duty, working in data processing, commissary, flight control (top photos) or other tasks. Bottom picture shows the Marine Corps Women's Reserve Band at Camp Lejeune, N.C., where it was organized in 1944, freeing male musicians for combat duty. At left, World War I Marinettes are sworn in to do clerical work for the Corps. About 300 women, forerunners of today's Women Marines, signed up in 1918-19 and this year marks the 50th anniversary of that occasion.

Protests of Enterprise Visit Mount

By KENNETH ISHII
Associated Press Writer
SASEBO, Japan (AP) — Leftists demonstrated in Sasebo and Tokyo today against the visit of the nuclear-powered U.S. aircraft carrier Enterprise as the 75,000-ton giant neared the U.S. Navy base in this south Japanese port.

Authorities said 120 extreme leftist students were arrested in two clashes with riot police. But the biggest demonstration was an orderly Communist-Socialist gathering of an estimated 50,000 persons at a Sasebo ball park. The demonstrators paraded through the streets.

Some 700 students attacked a police barricade in front of the main entrance to the Sasebo naval base, following a similar attack Wednesday. But riot police drove them off easily with tear gas and high-powered jets of water from firetrucks.

Police said three policemen and eight students were injured and another 200 persons were treated at a hospital for tear gas irritation. Officers arrested 15 students, increasing to 42 the number taken into custody in Sasebo in two days.

Another clash broke out in Tokyo when about 300 students, marching in protest toward the prime minister's official residence and the U.S. Embassy, began throwing stones and milk bottles at some of the 700 riot police along the way. Both students and police wore steel helmets.

Police said they arrested 105 students.

About 10,000 labor unionists also marched to the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo in a Communist-sponsored protest demonstration, but they were orderly.

The Enterprise, en route to join the air war against North Vietnam and accompanied by the nuclear-powered frigate Truxton, was due in Sasebo Friday. The U.S. Embassy said the carrier and her crew of 4,300 would stay for about five days.

The Enterprise and the Truxton are the first nuclear-powered surface warships to visit Japan, although American nuclear submarines have been visiting Japanese ports since 1954. The Socialists and the Communists charged the visit threatens Japan with involvement in the war.

Leftists have been assembling in Sasebo since last week, and almost all of the demonstrators are from other parts of the country. Most of the city's 250,000 population welcome all visiting American ships and the business they bring.

Life in Arkansas

By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer
More and more is being done for the American citizen by big business, machines and the government, or a combination of them all.

Machines are computing driver's licenses, banks are promoting checks that mail themselves and the government provides food to persons under certain conditions.

Now, leading bankers are saying that a "cashless, checkless society" will be a reality as early as the 1970s.

This means that persons no longer will receive or cash checks, which may add more money worries than they eliminate.

Mrs. Margaret Alexander, extension home management specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, says a new revolution in the way money will be handled already is taking place.

She said that by means of a specially designed banking card and a touch telephone hooked up to a central computer, money will be transferred from personal accounts to those of stores, individuals or institutions. Some regular payments such as rent, mortgage pay-ments and utility bills will be made without even the person thinking about it.

Mrs. Alexander pointed out that should the bank balance become depleted, a loan of a predetermined amount would be made and that repayments plus interest and charges would be withdrawn when they are due.

This would relieve trips to the bank, paper work and trying to remember whether the utility

Fight on Crime Gets Applause

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's plea for several bills to combat crime won him some of his warmest applause from Congress—but votes may be harder to get.

Republicans, who joined loudly in applauding Johnson's anti-crime remarks Wednesday night, have bills of their own they favor and plan to make "crime in the streets" a major campaign issue in November's presidential election.

Of the 52 bursts of applause that interrupted Johnson's State of the Union address, 12 came during his brief remarks on crime.

The approval appeared aimed at the general idea of attacking crime, however, and not the specific programs he mentioned.

The gun-control law he is backing is stuck in committee in both the House and Senate with little likelihood it can be enacted. Sentiment is much stronger bill was paid.

Mrs. Alexander said the main reason bankers are interested in setting up this system is to take care of the enormous flow of paper necessary to the economy. For instance, last year some 17 million checks were written by Americans and the figure rises each year by 6.7 per cent.

Another reason, she said, is that banks will have a faster more accurate system of checking credit ratings of potential credit customers.

The gloomy side to this, however, could see the family robbed of the discipline that comes with receiving and handling real money.

As a result, Mrs. Alexander said, persons may spend more, get deeper in debt and create a financial disaster for themselves.

She said the new system could be a time saving convenience or a total disaster, depending upon how individual families use it.

for the Republican-backed version, which has the approval of the National Rifle Association.

The centerpiece of the Johnson program—a $100 million measure to help local police improve their techniques and training—has already been mangled in the House and is now bogged down in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Johnson didn't even mention a proposal the Republicans have urged most strenuously—to legalize wiretapping under court controls.

An administration proposal that should have clear sailing, however, would add 100 FBI agents and 100 assistant U.S. attorneys to the federal law enforcement ranks.

Johnson said the extra officials would help in more vigorous enforcement of the drug laws. He also proposed steeper penalties for persons dealing in LSD and other dangerous drugs.

New Missile Could Ruin Russians

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear scientist says this country's new multiple warhead missile could, in just one strike, threaten the lives of 60 million Russians and "knock the Soviet Union out of the 20th century."

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, who worked on the original atomic bomb project, told a college audience Tuesday: "The fact is that the striking power of the U.S. is incredibly immense if reckoned in terms of city kill-power."

"If half of our 1,710 strategic missiles are converted into multiple warhead configurations, the United States will have 18 times the kill capacity required to knock the Soviet Union out of the 20th century."

Lapp's remarks, addressed to a convocation at Washington and Jefferson College in Washington, Pa., were released in Washington in advance.

His speech coincided with the Pentagon's denial of a report that this country has placed Soviet cities rather than military installations at the top of its nuclear target list.

Casualties in Vietnam Higher

SAIGON (AP) — American casualties in the Vietnam War. The U.S. Command reported today that 278 men were killed in action and 1,323 wounded, compared with 184 killed and 1,132 wounded.

The South Vietnamese Command reported its casualties also went up markedly.

Enemy casualties last week dropped to 2,216 killed, the two commands said, a major decline from the record 2,868 reported for the previous week.

The U.S. Command said action last week was "characterized by moderate to heavy engagements."

Of the 1,323 Americans wounded last week, the command said 711 required hospitalization.

The report increased the total American combat casualties in the war to 16,549 killed and 102,107 wounded. The command said another 968 Americans are listed as missing, captured or interned since Jan. 1, 1961.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 357 government troops were killed last week, 946 were wounded and 110 were missing or captured. These tolls are among the heaviest of the war for South Vietnamese forces.

South Vietnamese casualties reported for the week before were 263 killed, 657 wounded and 83 missing or captured.

Of the 2,216 enemy reported killed last week, South Vietnamese headquarters said 605 were killed by government troops and the rest by U.S. and other allied forces.

The U.S. Command said there were no personnel killed in action last week among other allied forces, only four wounded and none missing.

The report said there were 486,000 U.S. military personnel in South Vietnam by midnight Saturday, an increase of 4,000 over the total reported for the previous week.

The total of other foreign allied personnel was 60,000 a drop of 1,000 from the previous week.

The U.S. estimate of enemy strength was the same it has been for weeks—223,000 to 248,000 military, and 75,000 to

Demand for Gold Rises in London

LONDON (AP) — A rush for gold hit the London bullion market today with dealers reporting "very big demand" at the official fixing.

The dollar price of gold rose 7 cents to $35.19 cents and the sterling price moved up 4 pence to 292 shillings 3 pence.

Treaty Near on Halt of Atom Arms

By GEOFFREY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have reached agreement on a complete draft treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons, authoritative Western sources reported today.

The completed draft, including an article on international controls previously in dispute, is to be submitted to the 17-nation disarmament conference when it goes back to work later today after a Christmas recess.

It was believed that the Soviet-American agreement on controls would result in acceptance of the treaty by West Germany, Italy and other members of the Common Market except France.

No details of the agreement on controls were immediately available. U.S. sources said earlier differences had been narrowed down to a matter of several words during meetings in the past few days of the U.S. and Soviet co-chairmen of the conference, Adrian S. Fisher and Alexei A. Roschchin.

But India's position, believed the key to acceptance of the treaty by most neutral and non-aligned nations, remains that the draft document does not clamp down hard enough on nations that already have nuclear weapons.

If the Indians refuse to sign,

Thursday, January 18, 1968
Pakistan almost certainly will refuse also. It is believed this will encourage Israel to hold back, and then none of the Arab countries would sign.

India has been the most determined critic of the treaty and has attracted the support of a number of nonaligned nations.

The U.N. General Assembly, which is to reconvene in the spring, has asked the conference to try to have a complete draft treaty ready by March 15.

The original draft, presented in Geneva last Aug. 24 by the United States and the Soviet Union, lacked Article 3 dealing with international inspection.

The Soviet Union has insisted that the International Atomic Energy Agency, which has a membership of more than 90 nations, be recognized as the only body competent to police a non-proliferation treaty.

The Common Market countries, led by West Germany and Italy, seek a role for Euratom, their own agency which controls nonmilitary atomic energy development within the six-nation group.

The Russians and the Americans were expected to compromise with an agreement in principle that the IAEA would be the main control body but that it should work out a mutually acceptable inspection system with Euratom.

The French never have taken their seat at the disarmament conference since it began in 1962 because of President Charles de Gaulle's determination to avoid anything that might hinder his development of French nuclear weapons.

Appeal to Consumer Not So Hot

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — After 11 months of President Johnson's measures to protect the consumer in his State of the Union message, the cynics will be pointing out that consumers are voters and that this is election year.

There was a heavy consumer bias in the President's list of better housing, food, guards, an auto insurance litigation, truth-in-lending, safety and a "lawyer for American consumer."

Perhaps some second thoughts are required though, despite all the consumerism of past few years, despite all attention to consumer needs, consumer has barely reacted. He is hesitant, unenthusiastic.

This is reflected in his reluctance to purchase goods and in the strongest rate of savings in years, in a malaise that has retarded sales a bit below expectations for many months.

Maybe this is because the emphasis on consumerism has illustrated the dangers of automobiles, the poor quality of goods, the inadequacies of service, the high cost of food, and the emphasis has been negative.

More likely, however, the responsive consumer is a product of the general state of the nation: of inflation, the heat of higher taxes, soaring medical costs, the war, high interest and mortgage rates, and all disorder.

If this is so, if consumers are not reacting with enthusiasm to the attention paid them, instead, their minds are on other things—perhaps consumers cannot so easily be equated with voters, perhaps the attention paid them cannot be translated into votes.

One of these problems that has troubled the rank and file American during the past year is the little understood but still red problem of the dollar—obviously weighed heavily on Johnson's mind.

Throughout the President's speech there were indications that spending was being held down as a sound fiscal presumption, as part of his program to curb inflation, and convince Europeans that the dollar is sound.

Johnson's warning to the nation that the failure to increase taxes "will sweep us into an accelerating spiral of price increases; a slump in home building; and a continuing erosion of the American dollar," was meant also for audiences abroad.

Domestic inflation, fueled by heavy civilian and government spending without a corresponding tax increase, has been one of the big irritants to some other nations, which feel this inflation is exported to them in the form of weak dollars. These dollars they quickly turn in for gold.

The President had one pet anecdote for heavy government expenditures and that was to encourage a partnership between government and private industry to rebuild cities and train the unemployed.

This partnership has been a theme of the Johnson administration, a concept that has been refined and shaped over the months until now there is evidence that business is willing to respond.

While we are going to recommend the lead of ace from ace-king, we don't want to claim any credit for being the first people to think of it or to use it. In fact, we are somewhat late in getting on the band wagon, although we are the first bridge columnists to do so.

The reason for our hesitation is that the other lead has been in use for so many years that we don't think many of our readers will want to change lifetime habits.

If you stick with king from ace-king, you will save yourself a lot of mental adjustment and worry while you learn the new lead, but if you do go to the trouble to change you will be rewarded in the long run.

It has been rather traditional, when your partner opens a king against no-trump, that you play your second highest card in the suit. This isn't bad when you don't know whether his lead was from ace-king or from king-queen. If you know that it was from king-queen, you don't want to play this way. Instead, you play low if you don't want him to continue and high if you do want him to keep playing the suit.

South should let West's king of hearts hold the first trick and it will be up to East to drop his jack. East won't be too happy about this play because he can't be sure that his partner holds the 10 spot, but East can be pretty sure that declarer will make his contract unless West can set his heart suit up immediately.

If East drops the deuce, West might still continue with the queen, but if East drops the jack, West has no problem at all. He continues the suit, knocks out dummy's ace, gets in with the king of clubs and collects a 50-point penalty.

Soviet Rants at U.S. But Jails Reds

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

One day after a closed-door Soviet court convicted four defendants in a literary trial, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia waxed indignant over what its headline called "the fate of a poet."

In a column subtitled "Democracy inside-out," the newspaper expressed anger that this poet had been convicted, it said, because of his views.

Izvestia was not talking about Soviet writers, many of whom have been sent off to prison for their views. It was talking about the case of the American Negro poet, LeRoi Jones.

Jones had allegedly participated in a violent Newark, N.J., riot last summer. He was convicted recently for illegal possession of lethal weapons. His trial was open and widely publicized. He was freed on bail and was at liberty, pending his appeal, to keep speaking engagements and say publicly whatever he pleased about his government.

The Soviet writers convicted last week were sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor on vague charges of anti-Soviet activities. The trial court was closed except to those selected by the prosecution. All through the trial there was no mention of it in the Soviet press. Only after the conviction did one Soviet paper briefly report the fact that it had been held. Principal press organs ignored the proceedings.

There will be no ball for the Russian writers, nor for any convicted before them. There will be no opportunity for them to keep speaking engagements or even to whisper publicly what is on their minds.

But the way Izvestia tells the story to its Russian readers, the United States is a savage persecutor of writers. Here is what Izvestia had to say about the trial of LeRoi Jones.

"The bourgeois newspapers and journals are silent about the reprisals against the gifted poet whose verses have been included in an anthology of modern American poetry. Official literary societies also display total ignorance. Only the workers' newspaper, the Worker, came forward with an exposure of his tormentors."

Soviet law makes it a serious crime to engage in any "activities against the state," and only the Soviet authorities can say which activities endanger the state. Any breath of criticism at all can be interpreted, under the Soviet penal code, as "anti-Soviet slander," and incur harsh punishment from which there is little chance of appeal or escape.

Knicker Italy's New High Fashion

By LEONORA DODSWORTH
AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP) — Rome fashion house Barocco presented a new view on pants in their spring-summer showing Wednesday night.

Called "pouf pouf" by designer partners Gilles and Rocco, they took the form of knickerbockers—with jackets added—were meant to be worn in a city location.

The way Barocco made these pants suits, they were elegant enough to be worn on New York's Fifth Avenue but as a design idea they were pretty drastic.

In fact, every now and then, even Gilles and Rocco had doubts and modified the puffy pants into short pleated skirts.

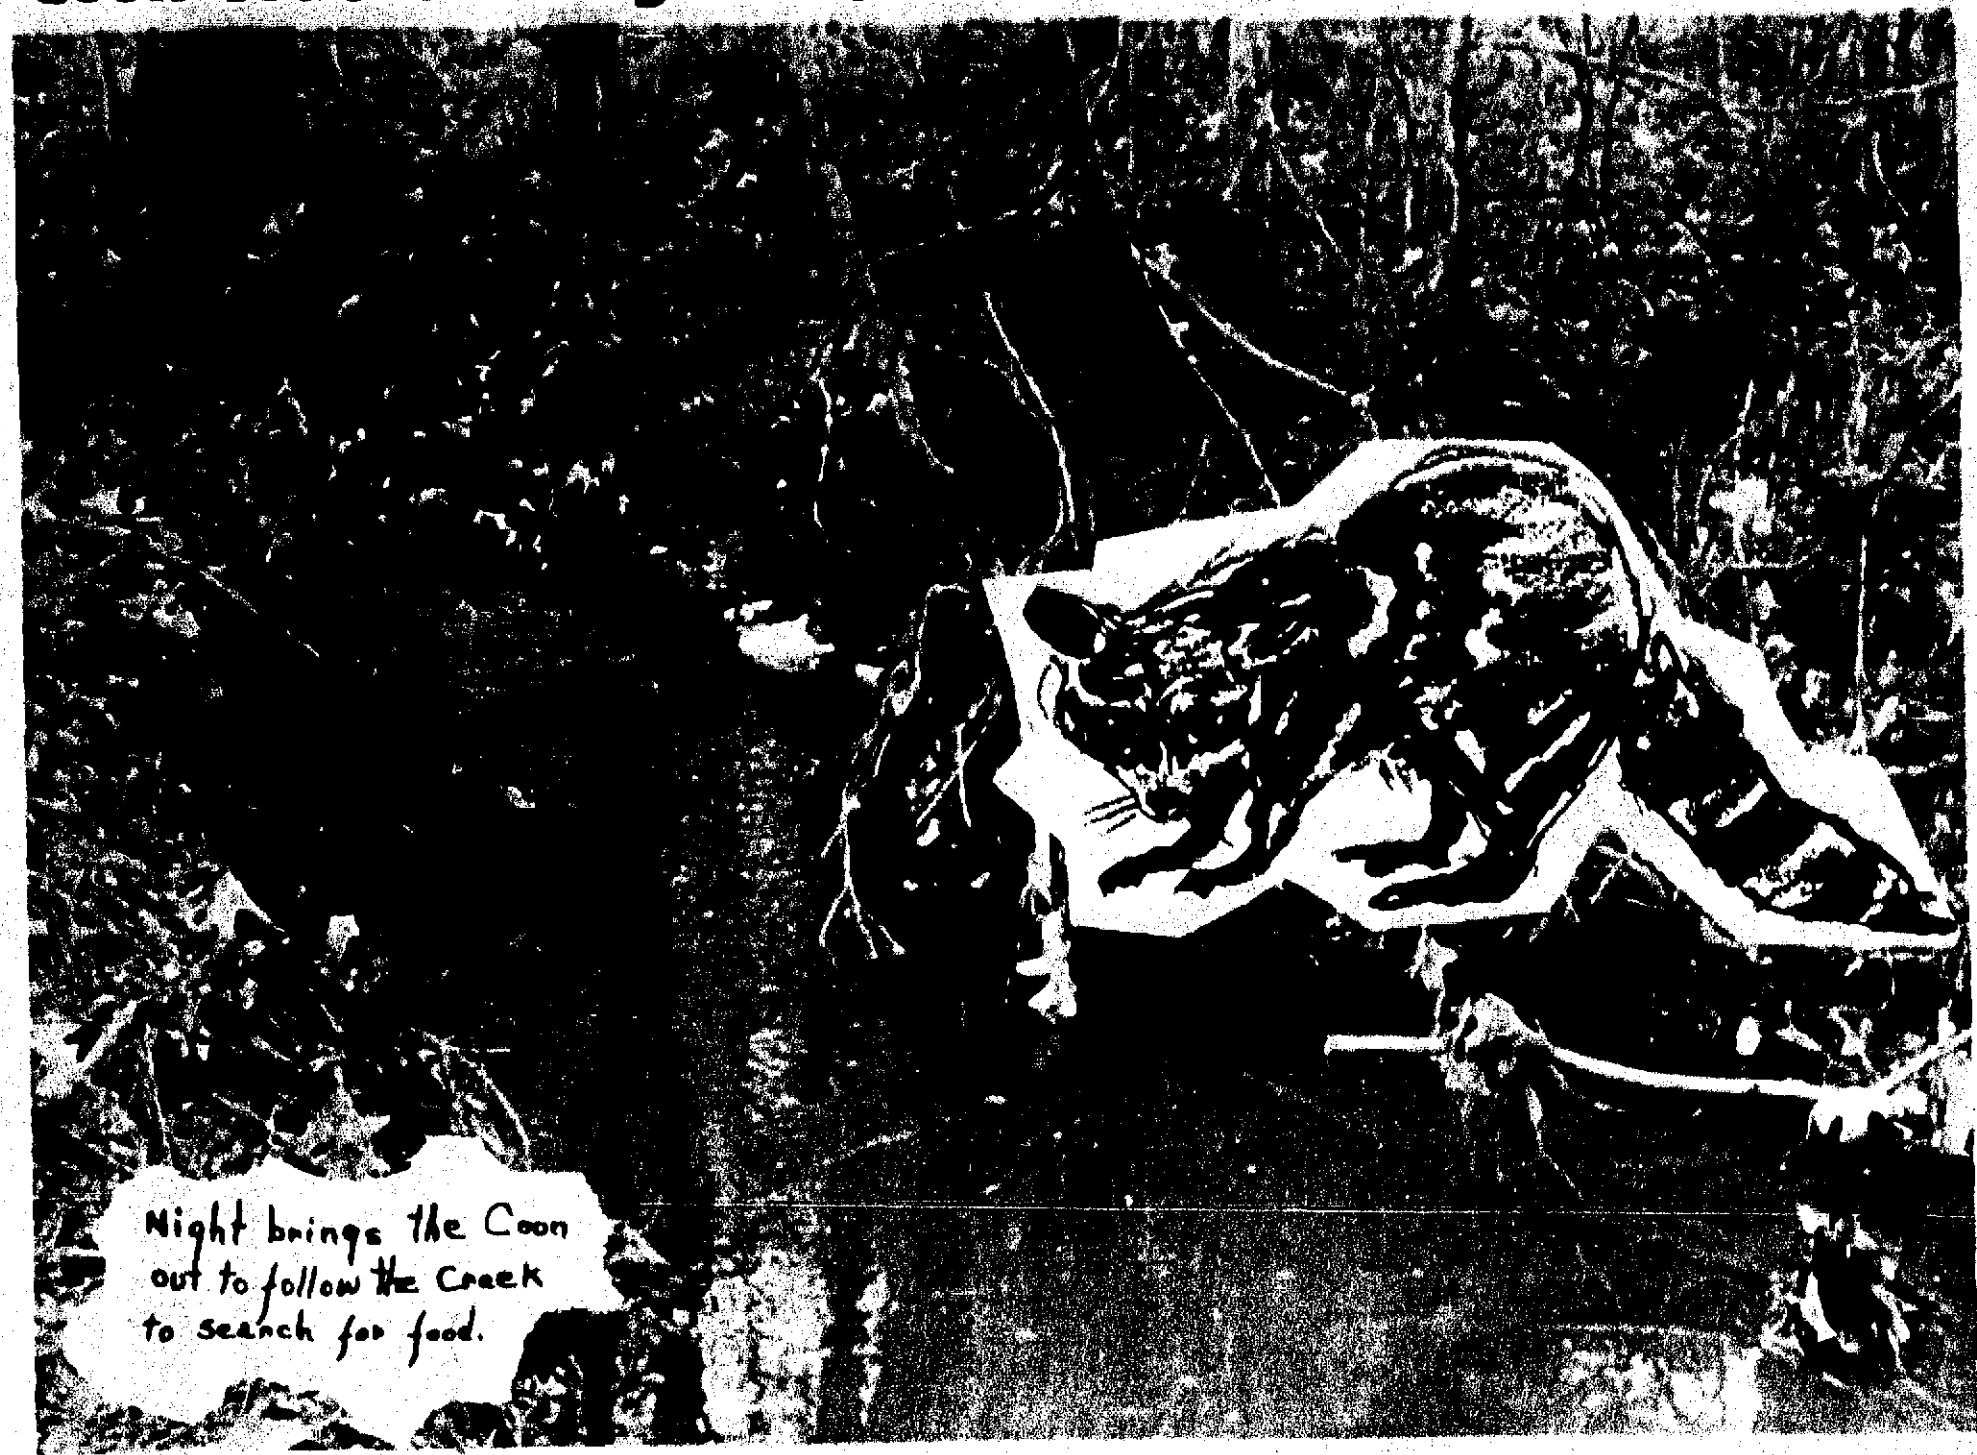

Pants apart, these outfits consisted of long jackets with deep horseshoe necklines that revealed frosty white shirts that wrapped high round the neck. Sometimes there was also a vest included.

Coats were straight-cut with lightly padded shoulders, in silver gray tweeds, they were girlie with a new belt made of linked pearl buttons that looked just like ear studs.

The new chatty grays that the Italians are bringing on so fast as the fashionable new "no color," were well represented. They showed up in pin striped wools, classic schoolboy flannel and crepes washed as pale as a dawn sky.

Fabiani's long-time favorite, the tent coat, turned up yet a g a i n. Double-breasted, it swung from a tight-fitting choker collar. There was another coat, too. It had a big deep pointed collar, a tiny fitted top and sprang into deep folds from just below the bust.

Half Retire at Age 62

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — About half the Americans who now apply for retirement benefits under Social Security do so at age 62, three years short of the full retirement age.

Those who do get only 80 percent of the monthly benefits they would get if they waited until they were 65. If they retire at 63, the percentage they get is 86, and two-thirds. And at 64, retirement brings them 93 and one-third percent of full benefit.

Government analysts suggest that the reason so many people are choosing to retire at 62 is that employment opportunities for them have fallen off sharply in an age stressing automation, new high levels of skills and young workers.

The early retirees suffer in monthly benefits because they will be drawing them for a longer time. But that inevitable reduction evidently has not stemmed the rush toward speedier retirement.

For those who still choose to wait until 65, the outlook since adoption of 1967 Social Security revisions is even better than it was before.

Beginning with March 2, 1968, Social Security checks, the minimum monthly retirement benefit for a person 65 goes up from $44 to $55. This will be paid to an individual whose average yearly earnings under Social Security come only to $800 or less.

The maximum monthly benefit, payable to a worker reaching 65 in 1968 with average yearly earnings of $4,800, is rising with the March 2 checks from the old level of $135.90 to $153.60.

Later on, as higher average earnings under Social Security become possible, the top monthly benefit figure for a 65-year-old retiree will rise, with the peak of $218 coming in the year 2006. At that point the earnings average can reach $7,800 a year—which is the income level from which Social Security taxes are to be taken from 1968 on.

If 2006 sounds far off, it should be remembered that most students presently in college won't be retiring until after that.

When you start drawing retirement benefits, your wife and children may also qualify. Your wife must be at least

62. Or, if she is younger, she must be caring for an unmarried child who is under 18 years of age, or a child incapable of self-support because of a disability incurred before age 18.

By the standard rule, the wife gets one-half of what is called the husband's "primary insurance benefit"—what he would be entitled to at age 65. But her payment is reduced, on a scale up to 25 per cent, if she herself claims her benefits before reaching 65.

On the other hand, there is a ceiling on what she can get. It is fixed at $105. But it won't apply for many years because no retired men will have high enough benefits to make it apply until then.

Each child of a worker retired at 65 can also get one-half of his primary benefit. Normally these latter payments stop when the child reaches 18, except where prior disability is involved or where the child is still in school. In the latter instance, payments continue until the child reaches age 22.

Here again, however, a ceiling intervenes. There is a limit on how much one family can draw in benefits. The old range was from a minimum of $66 to a top of $368.00.

The new minimum for a family top is $82.50 a month, with a present high point of $322.40, depending of course on the worker's average yearly earnings. By the year 2006, the family maximum will have climbed to $434.40 for a worker then reaching 65.

Persons who attained the age of 72 before 1968 can get special benefits at a new high of $40 a month even if they have no record of work under Social Security. Those who reach 72 before 1969 need only nine to 15 months of work credited to their account to be eligible for these special benefits—which used to be just $35 a month.

New Drug Holds Promise; Cuts Cholesterol Level

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Although your arteries start to harden the day you are born, the rate at which they do so varies in different persons. Because this rate is linked to the concentration in your blood of cholesterol, triglycerides and phospholipids—all normal and essential constituents of your blood—these concentrations have been the subject of intensive study. The latest and most encouraging of these comes from the Duke University Medical Center.

A group of 65 persons was studied—38 had definite evidence of arteriosclerosis and 29 had no such evidence but did have a high cholesterol level. All were given cholestyramine, an ion-exchange resin, in water over a period of 18 months. The average drop in cholesterol level was 43 per cent, in triglyceride 55 per cent and in phospholipids 25 per cent.

The drug, which has few, if any, side effects and can be taken regularly for prolonged periods, has been approved for the treatment of certain liver diseases but its use in lowering the level of blood lipids is still considered experimental. It works by combining with bile acids in the intestines and preventing their reabsorption into the blood. The body must, therefore, use cholesterol from the blood to manufacture more bile acids. By reducing the absorption of fat from the intestines the drug also favors weight reduction.

Of the 36 persons with arteriosclerosis, 32 noted relief from their symptoms.

Q—I have little warts all over my body. Is there any safe way to get rid of them? Are they catching?

A—Although warts are caused by a virus, they are only slightly contagious. Your doctor can destroy them with an electric needle, freezing with dry ice or local applications of salicylic or trichloroacetic acid. Self-treatment with these methods would not be safe because of the danger of damaging the adjacent healthy skin. After a year or two, warts often disappear spontaneously.

Q—My doctor says I have neuromyositis. What is the best treatment?

A—This is a combined inflammation of nerves and muscles. Several causes have been observed and the treatment would depend on the cause.

Q—Can a person who has peptic ulcer drink beer?

A—Not without irritating the ulcer.

Gov. Romney Opens Up in Wisconsin

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — George Romney, heartened by his first presidential campaign swing in New Hampshire but still a self-described underdog, is opening a second front in Wisconsin.

The Michigan governor scheduled a Saturday mission to Milwaukee to open his campaign for the April 2 Wisconsin primary.

But the New Hampshire primary March 12 still tops the Romney agenda. He plans to return to this state in a week to resume his uphill race against former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

"We've had much more support than we'd anticipated," Romney said in climaxing a five-day campaign that crisscrossed New Hampshire for nearly 1,000 miles. "We're greatly heartened."

Romney managers claimed the governor had seen more than 11,000 persons.

As Romney wound up the visit Wednesday night with a speech in Dover, a young boy in the audience asked him: "What do you think your chances of becoming president are, and why?"

Romney laughed. "I think I'm as big an underdog right now in the presidency race as I was in the automobile business," said the candidate who once headed American Motors Corp.

"I think I'll win because I'm discussing issues more directly and I think I have more experience and background than the others who are running for election this year."

Polls, including those by Romney's campaign managers, show Nixon favored by New Hampshire voters although he has not announced as a presidential candidate.

While President Johnson delivered his State of the Union address before Congress and television cameras, Romney was speaking to some 175 persons at a Dover school cafeteria.

Romney said Johnson "seems to think that an aristocracy of public and private power has a natural right to wheel and deal and bargain out policy at the top—while the people stand by helplessly."

Romney said that invites "all but the very powerful to accept irresponsibility," even violence. Romney also had a challenge for his Republican presidential rivals, saying any man who seeks the presidency should "spell out at least the outline of an acceptable settlement" in Vietnam.

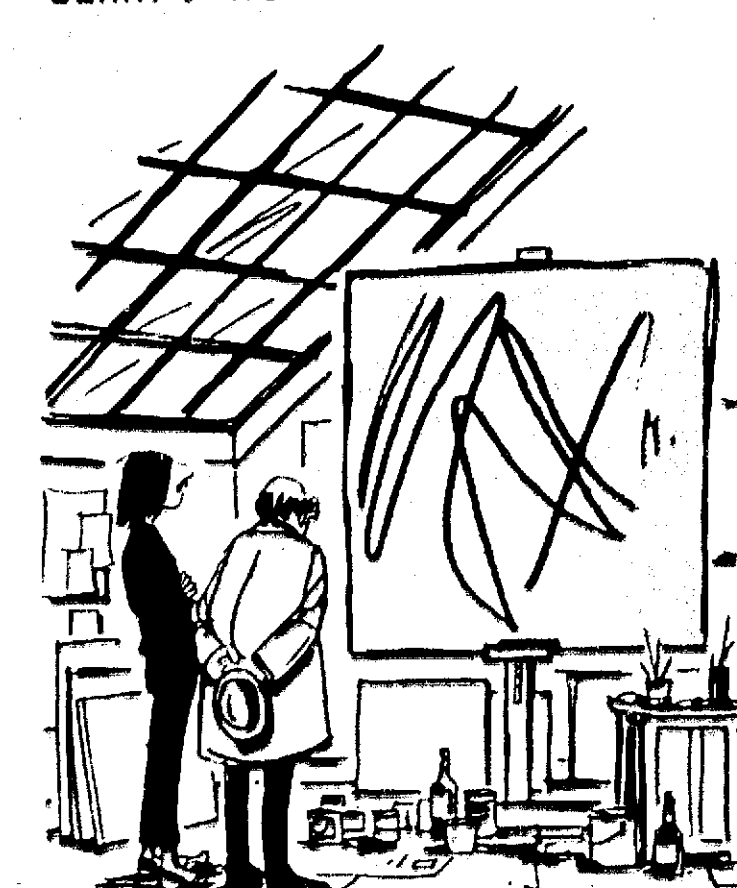

He said voters should insist on this.

Romney's formula is neutralization of Vietnam and he underscored it during his campaign rounds with demands for reform and broadened participation in the Saigon government.

The longest single span steel bridge in the world is the Verazano Narrows Bridge astride the entrance to New York Harbor. It is 4,260 feet in length, exceeding by 60 feet the main span of San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, formerly the world's longest, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Good potato, but we won't use it

This is a NO. 1 grade potato.

But we won't use it for Jane Parker Potato Chips because it measures more than 4 inches in diameter.

We have minimum and maximum sizes to insure the best chips... the best eating.

But size isn't the only thing we're fussy about.

We'll use only certain varieties of potatoes.

There are 20 or more varieties we wouldn't think of using... they just don't make good chips.

We're careful about potato sugar content.

It must be low to produce chips of uniform color.

We're fussy too about crispness, thickness and lots of other things.

This may seem like an awful lot of fussing, but that's the way we are about all Jane Parker products... about all the products we make.

When you think about it, shouldn't fussy A&P be your store?

Viet Cong Commander Is Killed

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers (AP) in ambush along a trail killed a Viet Cong battalion commander from a regiment which overran a South Vietnamese district town two weeks ago, U.S. headquarters announced today.

The ambush was one of five clashes Wednesday, scattered from below Saigon to the demilitarized zone, in which U.S. forces reported killing 119 Communist soldiers at a cost of seven Americans killed and 29 wounded.

A U.S. communique termed the paratroopers' ambush "vengeance on the Dong Hai Regiment which attacked the district town of Tan Uyen in the early morning hours of 6 January."

An ambush squad from the 187th Airborne Infantry, which arrived in South Vietnam last month, caught Lam Hiep, 28-year-old commander of the Dong Hai Regiment's D800 Battalion and two other Viet Cong on a trail 25 miles north of Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said.

The paratroopers killed Hiep and another Viet Cong, but the third man apparently escaped. In an exchange of fire, one American was killed and one wounded.

A pouch full of documents, a Russian pistol, a map and a compass were found on Hiep's body. The documents disclosed his identity and showed he had commanded the battalion since April 1966 at least.

Lam Hiep's rank was not reported, but he probably was a major. Last month U.S. troops killed a North Vietnamese regimental commander in the Que Son Valley, 35 miles south of Da Nang.

Fifteen miles to the north of the ambush site, two other new paratrooper units were accidentally hit by two rounds of 105mm artillery fire by an American battery. Two paratroopers were killed and 21 wounded.

Although ground action has been light this week, heavy Communist assaults last week were reflected in the weekly casualty summaries from the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands.

U.S. headquarters said 278 Americans were killed in action last week, the highest in six months, and 1,323 Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 357 government troops killed last week.

Prison Aid by Revenue Bonds Seen

PRESCOTT, Ark. (AP) — Major improvements needed in the state Penitentiary System could be financed through a $10 million revenue bond issue backed by income from crops at Cummins and Tucker prison farms, according to state Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott.

Hendrix, chairman of the Legislative Council's Committee on Charitable Institutions, said both farms needed major construction projects and more mechanization of farming procedures.

He said cash crops from 15,000 acres of land at Cummins and 5,000 acres at Tucker had made the prison system self-supporting in the past, but had provided no training for inmates because there was no equipment they could learn to operate.

"The prisoner went to the penitentiary able to pick cotton with his fingers and left the same way, but he saw machines doing the job across the roads," he said.

Hendrix said the prison system had accumulated about $1 million in surplus funds, and that this could be used to start improvements.

He said he saw no hope of getting a bond issue included on the agenda for the special session starting Feb. 5, but that he intended to propose one when the General Assembly meets in a regular session next year.

Maximum Strength in Vietnam Is Believed Reached by the U.S.

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials say the U.S. commitment to the Vietnam war may be close to the high water mark in men and money.

They said they anticipate "a leveling off of both money and forces in Southeast Asia in the coming year."

This could mean U.S. troop strength in Vietnam will stabilize near the 525,000-man mark, although it does not rule out further reinforcements if conditions dictate.

U.S. military forces in Vietnam now total 486,000 men, with the balance of the 525,000 due there within the next few months.

Discussing President Johnson's upcoming budget, these officials told newsmen they calculate that about $25.75 billion will be spent during the fiscal year to prosecute the Vietnam war—a $1.2 billion increase over this year.

All told, Vietnam war costs will account for nearly one-third of the $77.2 billion defense budget Johnson will send to Congress within the next couple of weeks.

While the fiscal 1969 military budget will be up $2.9 billion over 1968, it still will fall about $1 billion short of the World War II peak.

The optimistic forecast of a leveling off in Vietnam came as officials discussed Johnson's State of the Union message to the House and Senate Wednesday night.

That forecast is in tune with Gen. William C. Westmoreland's confident statement while in Washington about two months ago that "we have reached an important point when the end begins to come into view."

Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, has spoken of a possible start on U.S. troop withdrawals within two years.

American optimism has soured in the past and there is no assurance it won't happen again.

The Pentagon had hoped to hold the U.S. troop commitment to about 480,000 men by next June 30. But last summer, Johnson yielded to Westmoreland's request for reinforcements. The Vietnam manpower ceiling was raised by about 45,000 men.

Despite this, and other unforeseen cost rises, Johnson has managed to avoid asking Congress for additional funds to pay for the war effort between now and the end of this fiscal year.

The Pentagon is helping by balancing off $6 billion in increased costs with reductions in non-Vietnam programs.

This is being accomplished by $4.3 billion in "reprogramming," which means stretching out or dropping some procurement, and by shifting $1.7 billion from hardware buying to operating expenses.

Fuel Blast Fires City Sewers

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP) — A gasoline explosion destroyed a service station early today, spilled burning fuel into the city's sewer system and turned underground culverts into "giant blowtorches."

A truck driver, J. R. Allgood Jr., 46, was unloading gasoline from a huge truck tanker before dawn when the first explosion occurred. He was burned slightly.

Fire Chief H. K. Henderson said the series of minor explosions made some of the downtown culverts look like giant blowtorches.

A section of sidewalk buckled slightly three blocks from the scene of the blast, a window in a store five blocks away was broken and the tires of a truck parked over one of the culverts were burned.

Most damage, however, was confined to the area of the original explosion, about two blocks from the city's main business district in this south Georgia town.

Financing Judge Lobby Criticized

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two lawmakers expressed doubt Wednesday about a proposal to earmark one per cent of the general state aid to counties for a new private association of county officials.

Reps. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock and George E. Nowothy Jr. of Fort Smith said it appeared the proposed legislation would make the new Association of Arkansas Counties a "state-supported lobby group."

The money would be used to open a Little Rock office for the new organization and hire a full-time staff, Mississippi County Judge A. A. "Shug" Banks, president of the Arkansas County Judges Association, said.

Banks said each set of county office holders now has its own statewide organization, but that a unified organization could act as a clearing house for information and accomplish more for the counties.

No action was taken on the proposal by the Legislative Council.

In the air war, U.S. planes flew 82 missions against North Vietnam Wednesday, and the two crewmen of an Air Force F4 Phantom reported the "probable" downing of a MIG21 in a brief engagement.

Freighter Sinking in Atlantic

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixteen crewmen on a small Dutch freighter battled to stay afloat today as their foundering vessel was slammed by huge waves and high winds in a mid-Atlantic gale.

The Coast Guard reported the captain of the 239-foot freighter decided at dawn today to postpone a planned second attempt to abandon ship as snow squalls struck lowering visibility.

Although listing so badly her deck was awash on the port side, the ship was reported riding better as winds moderated to about 35 knots.

One crewman was reported seriously injured with a head wound.

An attempt to abandon ship Wednesday resulted in the loss of two life rafts and a dinghy to the 25-foot seas and 60-knot winds leaving only two larger life boats aboard the freighter.

Two larger merchant ships were standing by and a Coast Guard C130 aircraft was circling overhead as the Ocean Sprinter labored along at about 4 knots some 1,300 miles east here.

The 311-foot Coast Guard cutter Absecon was headed toward the scene but because of the gale was not expected to arrive before noon today.

The Ocean Sprinter's last port of call was Summerside, Prince Edward Islands, Canada.

WR Accused of Damaging Colleges

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Info '68, the weekly television program sponsored by state Democratic Party Chairman Leon Callett, says a construction program for Arkansas colleges and universities has been "disrupted" under Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's administration.

Mrs. Elizabeth Westmoreland, moderator of the program, said Wednesday night that the six-year construction program for institutions of higher learning was put on a sound basis by the Democratic administration's establishment of the Commission for Coordination of Higher Educational Finance.

"Then a Republican governor was elected," she said. "In his program submitted to the General Assembly, he did not request or recommend any state funds for continuation of the program."

Budget Not So Tight; Cuts Asked

By JOSEPH R. COYNE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration will try to hold spending in check in its new "unified" $186 billion budget partly by shuffling program funds, officials say.

But some key members of Congress say they plan to seek cuts in what President Johnson referred to in his State of the Union message Wednesday night as a tight budget.

Johnson said spending in the new fiscal year which begins July 1 will increase by $10.4 billion, virtually all of it for defense needs and spending the administration is unable to control.

Administration officials said money for such stepped-up programs as model cities and manpower training will come from programs with less priority for which money is already available.

They added the Pentagon plans to switch several billions from one fund to another to avoid seeking more money from Congress during the current fiscal year.

Some construction projects are also likely to be deferred, it was said.

Johnson also appealed anew for adoption of a 10 per cent surcharge and requested removal of the gold backing for U.S. paper money. This would free about $10.7 billion.

Under the new unified budget to be used for the first time this year, Johnson projected a deficit of $8 billion on spending of $186 billion and revenues—including the surcharge—of about $178 billion.

These figures include for the first time spending and receipts from huge government-operated trust funds such as Social Security and highways—a spending item of about $47 billion.

This would compare with spending of $175.6 billion and a deficit of about $20 billion in the current fiscal year.

Under the more familiar administrative budget used in previous years, spending would rise from about $137.25 billion currently to about $147.5 billion in the new fiscal year.

Desperate Man May Find That His New Clothes Are Edible

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In the future you may be able to eat your worn-out wool suits and sweaters instead of throwing them away. Scientists in New Zealand have found a way to turn wool into food proteins. They don't have the taste thrill of steak—but they are said to maintain life.

We are having a pet population explosion as well as a human one. Dogs and cats in the United States now number about 50 million, or one for every four people.

Incidentally, advocates of equal rights might look into the fact that most local governments discriminate against lady dogs. Average license fees for a male dog are only $1.31, but for a female dog they are $3.10, according to the American Humane Association.

If you're having Zsa Zsa Gabor to dinner soon, be sure to serve frog legs as the main course. She jumps at every chance to enjoy her favorite delicacy.

Did you show up for work today? Well, two million other Americans probably didn't. That's the daily job absenteeism rate.

President Johnson wants us to get down on foreign travel, so if you want to please him why not see America first by visiting Rome, N.Y., Athens, Ga., and Paris, Ill.

Quotable notables: "Be not afraid of life. Believe that life is worth living, and your belief will help create the fact,"—Willam James.

Clotheshorse: John Whyte, one of Manhattan's top male models, has a $10,000 wardrobe. Make you jealous, ladies?

Safety statistic: U.S. motor vehicles now travel 900 billion miles a year, says the National Foundation for Highway Safety. But 87 per cent of accidents are caused by vehicles that account for only 17 per cent of the total mileage.

Prosperity note: Every hour of the day, the federal government now spends at least $1 million more than it takes in. Uncle Sam apparently believes in the old saying, "You can't take it with you."

Worth remembering: "The only people with whom you should try to get even are those who have helped you."

Politics Avoided in LBJ's Factual State of the Union Report

Address Not One of His Better Days

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's State of the Union message to Congress Wednesday night was not one of his masterpieces.

He cut it to the bone. No trimmings. And also no color. No hint this would be his most critical year with his presidential election. No political overtones. Just straightaway.

And two of his main points at least—Vietnam and an income tax boost—were simply repetitions of his 1967 State of the Union message.

This was the way he chose to launch his 1968 presidential campaign—no one seems to doubt he will run again although he hasn't said yes or no—for every thing he says this year will affect some voter's view of him.

In short, he left the heat and the oratory for later this year. He confined himself strictly to American conditions.

He didn't even go into details about the one thing which has kept the Vietnam pot bubbling and boiling. This was North Vietnam's suggestion Jan. 1—it could be a phony—that it is willing to start peace talks if the United States will stop the bombing unconditionally, and all other acts of war.

"Ever since Hanoi made this suggestion American critics have called for an end to the bombing, either temporarily, to see what Hanoi is up to, or permanently."

Johnson ignored the critics directly, simply saying the bombing would stop if talks "took place promptly."

But the one thing he made clear—despite all the criticism—was that he would not stop the bombing until he saw "a clear place promptly."

See ADDRESS NOT on Page Two

Highlights of Speech

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are text highlights of President Johnson's State of the Union message Wednesday night.

PEACE TALKS
The bombing would stop if talks would take place promptly and with reasonable hopes they would be productive.

And the other side must not take advantage of our restraint as they have in the past.

If a basis for peace talks can be established on the San Antonio foundations—and it is my hope and my prayer that they can—we would consult with our allies and with the other side to see if a complete cessation of hostilities—a really true cease-fire—could be made the first order of business.

The enemy has been defeated in battle after battle.

The enemy continues to pour men and material across frontiers and into battle, despite his very heavy losses. He continues to hope that America's will to persevere can be broken. He is wrong.

THE ECONOMY
The economic outlook for this year is one of steady growth—if we are vigilant. True, there are some clouds on the horizon. Prices are rising. Interest rates have passed the peak of 1968; and if there is continued inaction on the tax bill, they will climb even higher.

I warn the nation that this failure to act will sweep us into an accelerating spiral of price increases; a slump in home building; and a continuing erosion of the American dollar.

CRIME
I urge the Congress to stop the trade in mail-order murder this year by adopting a proper gun control law.

This year, I will propose a Drug Control Act to provide steeper penalties for those who traffic in LSD and other dangerous drugs.

U.S.-SOVIET RELATIONS
Because we believe the nuclear danger must be narrowed, we have worked with the Soviet Union and other nations to reach an agreement that will halt the spread of nuclear weapons. I hope to be able to present that treaty to the Senate this year for its approval.

Serious differences remain between us, yet in these relations, we have made some progress since Vienna, the Berlin Wall and the Cuban missile crisis.

HAIRD-CORE UNEMPLOYED
Our objective is to place these 500,000 in private industry jobs within the next three years.

MODEL CITIES
This year I urge the Congress to honor my request for Model Cities' funds to rebuild the centers of American cities—$1 billion.

HOUSING
We must call together the resources of industry and labor, to start building 300,000 housing units for low and middle-income families next year—three times more than this year. I propose, for the consideration of this Congress, a 10-year campaign to build six million new housing units for low and middle-income families.

CONSUMER PROTECTION
I propose new powers for the Federal Trade Commission to stop those who defraud and swindle the public; new safeguards to insure the quality of fish and poultry, and the safety of our community water supplies; a major study of automobile insurance; protection against hazardous radiation from television sets and other electronic equipment.

AGRICULTURE
I shall recommend actions to raise the farmers' income by establishing a security commodity reserve that will protect the market from price-depressing stocks and the consumer from food scarcity (and) programs to help farmers bargain more effectively for fair prices.

Minor Fires Are Reported Here

Hope Fire Dept. answered a call at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday to Brookwood school for a trash fire on the school playground. There was no damage reported.

At 6:05 p.m. the Dept. answered a call behind T. O. Porter Implement for a grass fire. No damage was reported. At 8:30 a.m. Thursday morning the department answered a call to the Dennis Townsend home on Hilltop Drive where a fire had started in a hot water heater help farmers bargain more effectively for fair prices.

By LOWELL MCKIRGAN
Associated Press Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — It was much-and-go for a while, but Santa came through.
A photograph showing two little girls crying as they left a Christmas party empty handed as brought gifts from across the United States and Canada.
The photograph by St. Louis Post-Dispatch photographer Reynold Ferguson was taken minutes after 6-year-old Helen Alexander, 5-year-old Aigine Norris and about 2,000 other children had been told Santa Claus had run out of toys.
The girls were among 4,500 youngsters invited to a Christmas party sponsored by management of the Pruitt-Igoe Housing Project Friday, Dec. 22. More than 11,000 persons live in the project.

CIGAR-SMOKING Prince Johannes von Thurn und Taxis and Eva-Maria von Malt seemingly couldn't care less about falling snow as they leave a party in St. Moritz, Switzerland. The prince is a member of one of Germany's oldest aristocratic families.

Price Is Too High to Stop Bombing

WASHINGTON (AP) — What does the price tag say?

If the United States called a pause in the bombing of North Vietnam, and if the North Vietnamese responded by slowing down their fighting in South Vietnam, then the pause would be worth it and peace talks might get started.

If the United States stopped bombing the North in the hope of a reciprocal response but the North used the pause to build up its forces in the South with men and supplies, U.S. ground forces in the South would have to pay the price.

So far the North has never shown any intention of slowing down its own side of the war when there was an American pause. But the calls for a bombing halt, temporary or permanent, go on.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield is the latest one to oppose the bombing. He wants a permanent halt to it.

He thinks what the North said on New Year's Day may be "one small indication" that if the United States stopped the bombing the North Vietnamese might be willing to talk peace.

This is what he said Sunday. He was referring to the North Vietnamese statement Jan. 1 that an end to the bombing will bring peace talks. In the past Hanoi had only said such U.S. action could—rather than will—bring talks.

But North Vietnam really didn't make it that simple.

Hanoi said there will be peace talks if the United States unconditionally ends the bombing and all other acts of war. But it didn't say it would stop its end of the war if the United States met its demands.

And so far President Johnson, thinking of the price tag, has refused to end the bombing. Instead, he is trying to find out what exactly North Vietnam will do if the bombing stops.

But Mansfield went beyond just hoping for the best. He said of the bombing, and gave it as a principal reason for wanting the bombing stopped altogether, whether or not the North Vietnamese respond:

"I think that militarily it has not accomplished its objective, politically I think it's very risky, and morally I think it's quite calamitous."

On Monday, a committee of distinguished men, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, tried to take a detached view of the bombing problem. Some of the others in this group are retired General of the Army Omar N. Bradley, and Paul Douglas, former senator from Illinois.

The group—called the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam—published a pamphlet giving the two sides of the argument about ending the bombing of the North. But it also offered conclusions of its own.

It said the bombing is not as central to the American effort in Vietnam as some of its proponents claim nor as much of an obstacle to negotiations as its opponents claim.

It said the war cannot be won in the air by bombing the North. But the bombing is a help to American ground forces fighting in the South and the war can be lost on the ground, the group said.

But the committee takes pretty much the same position as Johnson has, saying: "We believe that the beginning of an extended bombing pause must be promptly followed by Hanoi's cessation of sending men and materials into the South and any firing from the North upon our fighting men."

It's Pork Roasted to Juiciness

Pork roast comes to the table juicy and golden brown when it is 170° F., as measured by the roast meat thermometer, which is included with the roast.

Juicy, glazed pork roast makes distinctive centerpiece. Pork roast, cooked to the recommended 170° F. is truly juicy and tender. The older, internal temperature of 185° F. This roast is also in calories than formerly because of the lean type hogs marketed as well as closer marketing by retailers, states

High Flyin' Flavor

Reba Staggs, meat authority. Glazed roasts look fancy but they're easy-do when glaze uses only three ingredients. This sweet glaze is applied only during the last half hour or so.

Pork Roast—Apricot Glaze
4 to 6 pound pork loin roast
Salt
Pepper
Have the backbone loosened from rib side or removed from the roast. Place the roast, bone side down, on a rack in an open roasting pan. Season.
Insert meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, being careful that the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (325° F.) 3 to 4 hours or until the meat thermometer registers 170° F. Allow 35 to 40 minutes per pound for roasting. During the last 20 to 30 minutes of roasting time spread apricot glaze over meat and return to oven to finish roasting.

Apricot Glaze
1/2 cup apricot preserves
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons lemon juice
Combine apricot preserves, dry mustard and lemon juice. Mix thoroughly. Yield: 1/2 cup glaze.

Women's Dress Is Costlier

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department has made official what most husbands already know—it costs a lot more to keep women well dressed than men.

And, says a report in the Monthly Labor Review, the higher cost of clothing the ladies persists from ages 2 to 72.

The greatest spending differences are at the ages of 16 and 17, when the average girl's wardrobe costs 42 per cent more than a boy's.

"Although 18 to 24-year-olds had the highest clothing bills, their average expenditures were only slightly higher than the 16 and 17-year-olds," said the report.

"Persons in both age groups tend to be fashion conscious, like to have special clothes for dates and school activities, and often have more money to spend on clothing than younger teenagers—they are more likely to have income from part-time or full-time jobs," it said.

The report, based on a survey of buying habits over several years, said the average family spends $170.73 a year on clothing for men between the ages of 18 and 64 and $219.25 on women of the same ages. But those figures should be upped 10 per cent or more because of price hikes the past few years, the report said.

Fathers with young children, the study indicated, were lucky to squeeze an occasional new suit for themselves out of the family budget.

"For men, the lowest clothing purchases were reported for husbands whose children were all under 18," it said.

For youngsters from age 2 to 5, $73.98 a year was spent on girls and $67.49 on boys, the report said.

The higher rate of spending on women's clothes, after reaching the peak of 42 per cent for 16 and 17-year-olds, gradually decreases to 26 per cent at age 5.

But the disparity, although narrowing, continues all the way into the 65-plus age group where clothing expenditures for both men and women decline but women still outspend men by an average $99.73 to $77.16 a year.

Although he is generally associated with Philadelphia, Benjamin Franklin was born in Boston, Mass.

Gravy—Which Kind?

Scientists have found that drippings from meat contain not only good flavor but valuable vitamins and other nutrients. They should be saved for seasoning vegetables or making into gravy.

There are two types of gravy. One is the natural, unthickened juice from the pan in which the steak, roast, chop or ham is cooked. Measure, add half as much water (1 cup drippings requires 1/2 cup hot water), then season with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce if desired. Heat to boiling and serve at once, as hot as possible.

Thickened gravy is like white or cream sauce, except the meat drippings are used for the fat. Measure drippings from the pan, then mix flour 1 to 2 tablespoons for each cup of drippings with cold water until smooth, to add to drippings; cook until thickened.

Always serve gravy as hot as possible, pouring into a heated gravy boat so it will retain its heat at the table; or, place gravy dish on a candle warmer.
